

COMMUNITY HOUSE IS DISCUSSED BY CITY COUNCIL

Dixon-Conducted Campaign Proving Winner

OUTSIDE HELP NOT NEEDED TO BOOST C. OF C.

Voluntary Memberships Will Aid Greatly in the Work

A marked spirit of friendly and willing co-operation on the part of Dixon business men toward the reorganization campaign and membership drive of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce is being reported by the committees of volunteers who are conducting the drive, and there seemed no doubt at noon today that the sought-for 350 memberships will be forthcoming before 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening, when a mass meeting for every worker, every member and everyone interested in Dixon will be held at the city hall, to review the campaign and plan for the future.

At 6 o'clock last evening 158 paid-up memberships were announced as the result of part-time work by but a few of the committee during their first day's work; some of the workers being unable to get out yesterday.

Is Home-Conducted
A fact which is impressing itself greatly on the campaign is that the reorganization and membership drive are being conducted solely by Dixon men, with no outside help of any kind—volunteers who are in the battle "for Dixon" and for absolutely no other reason.

And since these volunteers are giving up their time and effort to make the Dixon Chamber of Commerce a virile, healthy organization, it is thought there may be other volunteers—men whom the committees may not be able to see—who will want to get into the chamber without solicitation.

To such the call is made: "If you are not seen by one of the workers, call at the Chamber of Commerce office and sign up; or, if it is impossible for you to call personally at the office, merely phone 26, give your name and a Dixon man, with no other interest than the welfare of Dixon, will call on you."

Partial reports of some of the committees, submitted last evening, which showed 158 members signed up, and leaving at least 200 to be secured, showed the following to have taken on memberships:

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, March 26.—Carl Fontano, alleged gang leader, is under arrest and search is being made for eleven gangsters in connection with the $150,000 registered mail pouch robbery at Harvey, Ill., yesterday by four bandits who escaped.

Fontano owns the machine which the bandits abandoned on the outskirts of West Hammond, according to the police. He says the machine was stolen from his home yesterday, but members of his family state he was away from home at the time of the robbery, officers say.

Near the abandoned car postal inspectors yesterday found $4,000 in one dollar bills, part of the shipment of money contained in the registered pouches which held payrolls for more than 2,000 employees of Harvey industries.

The bandits seized the pouches after William Russell, sixty year old postoffice messenger had been slugged as he started to leave the Illinois Central station at Harvey.

Forty suspects, including two alleged gang leaders were taken in custody later today.

STINSON WOMAN SAYS FIVE MADE BIG SUM IN OIL

Also Holds Daugherty Morally Responsible in Suicide.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 26.—A hint of an oil deal in which "five men made $33,000,000" in the fall of 1922 was brought before the Daugherty investigating committee today by Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of the attorney general's friend and political lieutenant, Jess W. Smith.

The witness said Smith had told her of such a transaction and she understood it had to do with stock in the Sinclair interests. She said Smith had declared he and the attorney general were "sore" because the men who made the money were friends of theirs but had not let them in on the deal. She could not name them.

The fitting reference to the $33,000,000 affair was made in the midst of a full session.

The witness disclaimed any previous intimation in the testimony that she had thought Smith met his death by any hand except his own. She was convinced he killed himself, she said, but believed Mr. Daugherty "morally responsible" for his determination to kill himself.

Asked further about the $33,000,000 deal, Miss Stinson said she would "rather have the things come out on cross examination."

"Unless questions are asked of me," she asserted, "I'm going to say just as little as I can. I'm here because Senator Wheeler told me I had to."

WOMAN QUILTS HUNGER STRIKE; EATS HEARTILY

Freeport Prisoner is Willing to Break Five-Day Fast.

Freeport, Ill.—Mrs. Ethel Footitt has seen the futility of a "hunger strike" and is not likely to resume it, Sheriff Byers said today.

Mrs. Footitt, awaiting trial for the murder of her husband, George Footitt, refused food for a period of nearly five days, but hunger finally conquered her and yesterday she accepted toast and coffee.

The woman ate with such a relish, Byers said, she probably has made up her mind that hunger striking is a foolish proposition and will be glad hereafter to take her three square meals a day.

Mrs. Footitt has been in jail since Dec. 26, when she shot and fatally wounded her husband, George, proprietor of a small grocery store here. She had escaped the day previously from the asylum for the insane at Kankakee, Ill. The grand jury indicted her for murder a few weeks ago.

Poincare's Cabinet Resigns After It's Pension Bill Loses

RAYMOND POINCARE.

Premier of France, who resigned with his cabinet today, when the ministry's pension bill was defeated.

By NEA Service.

PARIS.—In his stormy political career Raymond Poincare has been called:

"A political cipher."

"The best-informed man in French politics."

"A man with an extraordinary sense of the right time to do the right thing."

"A stupid blunderer."

"A reactionary and militarist."

"A staunch patriot."

Poincare has belonged to that school of French political thought that aimed at French supremacy on the continent, strict enforcement of the Versailles treaty and use of punitive measures to collect German reparations.

His career is brief: Born Barle-Duc, 1859; studied law; member Chamber of Deputies, 1886; minister of public instruction, 1893-95; minister of finance, 1906; prime minister, 1911-13; president of French republic, 1913-20; prime minister, 1922-1924.

Various Hitches to Be Demonstrated at Ogle Farm Thursday

The Farm Advisor of Ogle County has arranged for a demonstration meeting at the farm of L. H. Eylkamp on the Oregon to Mt. Morris road Thursday, at 1:30 p. m., to show the working of the four, five and six-horse hitches that were described in the Ogle County farmer a few weeks ago. E. T. Robbins, livestock extension specialist, from the University of Illinois, is to be in charge of this demonstration.

As a matter of economy of horse labor and man labor it is very often desirable on the farm to hitch several horses to be driven by one man and to hitch them in such a way that there will be the least loss of power due to side draft, crowding, indirect line of pull, distance from the load, etc. The hitches will be used at this demonstration in plowing a field of sod ground with a gang plow.

The date is set for Thursday hoping that by that time this field will be ready to plow and that it will be well in advance of most field work so that many farmers of the county will be able to attend the meeting and that they may get some ideas that will be of use in their spring work.

COOLIDGE LEADING JOHNSON IN SOUTH DAKOTA'S PRIMARY

Has Margin Over Hiram of About 2,000 Votes at Noon.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Sioux Falls, S. D., March 26.—President Coolidge held his lead over Senator Hiram Johnson in the republican presidential preference in additional returns today from the statewide primary in South Dakota Tuesday.

634 precincts gave the President a lead of 2,079 votes. The count: Coolidge, 24,867; Johnson, 22,788.

Sioux Falls, S. D., March 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—Calvin Coolidge held a lead of less than 2,000 votes over Senator Hiram Johnson for the republican presidential preference, according to unofficial returns from yesterday's primary in South Dakota.

Rural precincts in the central and northeastern parts were expected by Johnson workers to give him majorities and cut into the Coolidge lead.

Coolidge workers, answering the claim of Johnson managers that the Californian had won by 10,000 majority, insisted the western part of the state and more complete returns from the southeastern section would enable the President to hold his lead.

The majority of Governor W. H. McMaster over Senator Thomas Sterling for the republican senatorial nomination had grown to more than 3,400 early today, apparently assuring the governor's nomination.

On the democratic ticket, only scattered and incomplete returns were available but the state headquarters of the party at Huron declared William G. McAdoo had obtained the presidential endorsement.

McAdoo's headquarters asserted that reports received there indicated McAdoo had carried the state by a majority of better than two to one. McAdoo was opposed by a faction seeking to send an unimpaired delegation to the national convention.

L. S. G. Cherry, headed the majority democratic state ticket. He seeks the senatorial nomination in opposition to Mark P. Bates, who also has the minority endorsement of the farmer-labor party. The majority farmer-labor candidate for senator was Tom Ayres of Mitchell.

Senator Johnson's best territory on the face of the incomplete and unofficial figures was in the northeastern part of South Dakota.

Although Senator Sterling announced his support of Mr. Coolidge, the former's vote fell behind the ratio being maintained by the President. Governor McMaster, who boosted Senator Johnson, ran ahead of the Californian.

THINK BERGDOLL IS RETURNING TO U. S. TO FACE THE MUSIC

Has Left Eberbach for Unknown Destination; Much Baggage.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Berlin, March 26.—Grover C. Bergdoll was believed today to be on his way to the United States to "face the music" for evasion of military service during the World War.

He left Eberbach yesterday for an unknown destination carrying considerable luggage, after making preparations which indicated he did not contemplate returning. Friends stated that the Badenese government had issued a certificate of American citizenship enabling him to cross the frontier.

His departure was in the direction of Frankfurt and it was believed he would take a train for Hamburg and there board a steamship for New York. With him was his chauffeur, Eugene Stecher.

RETRENCHMENT OF EXPENSE IS MILLER'S PLEA

Memorial Arch Repairs to Cost About $250 are Authorized

No delay will be experienced in placing the memorial arch on Galena avenue just south of Second street in presentable and safe condition, following the action of the city council in regular session last evening, when Commissioner Charles E. Miller of the department of public health and safety was empowered to proceed with his plans without delay. The commissioner made a report on the arch proposition, which has been fostered by him and incidentally exploded a new bomb in the council circles.

"While we are anxious to make the arch a permanent fixture and must admit that it is the best advertisement the city has, we have another thing which we must not lose sight of. Dixon today is ready and needs a community building and I think that this present council should provide a place for the citizens. I favor replacing the Galena avenue arch, which I am told will stand for several years, and retrench our expenditures to be used toward a community house," the commissioner told the council.

Repair Cost About $250

Commissioner Miller submitted figures which he had received, approximating the cost of repair at about $250. This would provide for the setting of the east support in concrete, removing the present covering and replacing it with a metal covering which will last for several years. To construct a new steel arch, such as has been suggested, will require between $2500 and $3000, the commissioner reported. The members of the council favored putting the present structure into a good condition of repair and the commissioner was instructed to proceed at once with the work.

For Electric Inspection

W. D. Hart of the Illinois Northern Utilities company, accompanied by a delegation of electrical contractors and electricians to the council meeting presenting an electrical inspection ordinance similar to many now in use in surrounding cities. Mr. Hunt explained that careful and proper wiring decreased the fire hazard and strongly opposed improper installation of wires and fixtures. The matter was thoroughly discussed and finally referred to the city attorney who was instructed to prepare an ordinance and present it at the next meeting. The ordinance sought will provide for a license fee of $25 before the electrical contractor starts wiring a house, carries an inspection fee, and makes the city fire chief, inspector of the work when completed.

Miscellaneous Business

Henry Morey was awarded the contract for the removal of garbage from the city the coming season.

An ordinance relating to the maintenance of the state park in Dixon, in which the park board is called upon to pay special assessments against the property was passed.

An ordinance subdividing lots 8, 12 and 14 in Demer's third division was passed by the council.

The annual report of the Dixon city hospital was received showing total receipts for the year to be $43,993.06; disbursements totalling $42,213.41 and a balance on hand of $1779.65. The hospital board requested the annual appropriation of $500 from the city council as provided for by the ordinance.

NEWS FROM DIXON

Highway Engineers Undeclared Champs

The Highway Engineers again were victorious on the bowling alleys, their opponents being the Methodists, who lost by a couple of hundred pins. The Hiway team have won every match they rolled this season and as last evening's game was their last on the regular schedule they can consider themselves the undeclared champions of the tournament.

To Tackle Victors of Sterling Games

Interest among the volley ball players is being aroused over a big match which is scheduled for Friday evening at 7:30 at the local Y. The "first" team, which met and defeated the Sterling Y a week ago, is to take on the best those that stayed at home can scrape together. As four of the regular first team players were not in on the Sterling contest and many good players are available for this outfit, a battle to the finish is predicted, though the odds would seem to favor the "stay-at-homes."

Triangle Club Seeks Basket Ball Contest

The Triangle club, composed of boys in the teen age, have a basket ball team and are in the market for games for any Monday, Friday or Saturday afternoon. Any team that thinks it is good enough, but not too good, to take on this outfit should communicate with "Moon" Reagan, the genial manager of the Triangle club basket ball team.

Toastmasters Will Hear Business Man

Arrangements have been made by the Toastmasters' Club to bring H. N. Tolles, president of the Sheldon Correspondence schools to Dixon to address the sales and office forces of the city next Monday night at a banquet in the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Tolles' address is "Building Confidence in Business" and is a blackboard talk in Salesmanship and Service. It includes advertising and service. It includes bringing business to the house, deliveries, and how to sell your customer. It will be of a most practical nature to every member of any sales or office staff. Though the expense of bringing Mr. Tolles to Dixon is great as a part of its service program to its members and to the whole community. Any person is privileged to come but is advised to make reservation early for only 200 places at the banquet table will be sold. Phone the "Y."

Triangle Club Plans Tests for Members

The Triangle club at their regular Tuesday night supper appointed committees to draw up tests for members of the club and to submit them to the club next meeting. This club is made up of a bunch of twenty five wire fellows about the age of 15 years. The tests they will pass will be along intellectual, physical, religious and service lines. They will include school attendance, public speaking, campcraft, aquatic, athletics, bible study, in their own churches, thrift, citizenship and several other tests.

TODAY AT THE "Y"

3:30—Boys' game rooms open.

4:00—Boys' bowling alleys open.

4:15—Junior "B" gym class and basket ball.

5:00—Men's bowling alleys open.

5:00—Men's gym class and volley ball.

SISLER SHOWS HE'S NOT COMEBACK FOR HE NEVER HAD GONE

Browns' Manager Demonstrates He Has Not Lost Batting Eye.

(By the Associated Press.)

George Sisler, manager of the St. Louis Browns, who celebrated his 39th birthday two days ago, is not a "comeback" man. He has demonstrated that he never "had gone"—he was merely on a vacation while his eyes rested.

The St. Louis idol, who is 1922 was voted the most valuable man to an American League club, showed his charges how to wield the bat in an exhibition game against the Mobile Southern Association club yesterday.

Sisler cracked three hits in four trips to the plate and this led the attack, helped the club win easily. He showed that his eye is as good as ever.

Ty Cobb and his Detroit Tigers handed the Toronto Internationals another trimming at Greensboro, N. C.

The New York Giants shook off the hoodoo which has followed them lately and trounced the Toledo American Association club atainesville, Fla., 11 being the first time McGraw's crew has tasted victory in its last five starts.

Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yanks and Business Manager Ed. Barrow, are en route to the world's champions training camp at New Orleans.

It was not exactly an old fashioned message, which President Heidler of the National League witnessed at Clear Water, Fla., yesterday, but as near to it as is possible with baseball bats. The appearance of the youthful Paul Schreiber towering 6 feet 3 inches on the mound for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was responsible for the uprising. The Braves lambasted his offerings at will, while his support was erratic. They registered nine runs in two innings and won easily.

Donnie Bush, former manager of the Washington Senators, got revenge on his former team mates yesterday when his Indianapolis American Association handed the American League their first defeat of the season.

L'ENVOI—

When Earth's last picture painted
And the tubes are twisted and dried,
When the oldest colors have faded,
And the youngest critic has died,
We shall rest—and, faith, we shall need it—
Lie down for an aeon or two,
Till the Master of All Good Workmen
Shall set us to work anew!

And those that were good shall be happy.
They shall sit in a golden chair;
They shall splash at a ten-league
canvas
With brushes of comet's hair;
They shall find real saints to draw from—
Magdalene, Peter and Paul;
They shall work for an age at a sitting
And never get tired at all!

And only the Master shall praise us,
And only the Master shall blame us,
And no one shall work for money,
And no one shall work for fame;
But each for the joy of the working,
And each in his separate star,
Shall draw the Thing as he sees it
For the God of Things as They Are.
—Rudyard Kipling.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY.
(A Daily Menu for the Stout and Thin)

EAT AND—LOSE WEIGHT.
One large orange, 1 cup clam broth, 7 ounces broiled weakfish, 1 baked stuffed green pepper, 1 cup cabbage salad, 2 gluten puffs, ½ cup prepared bran, 2 thin slices gluten bread, 4 tablespoons pineapple water-ice, two lady fingers or small piece sponge cake, 1 pint skimmed milk.
Total calories, 1219. Protein, 317; fat, 229; carbohydrate, 673. Iron, .01601 gram.

Gluten Puffs.
One cup gluten flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup cold water.
Add water slowly to flour, beating with a Dover beater. Add salt and continue beating vigorously for ten minutes. Turn into sizzling hot buttered iron pan and bake half an hour in a hot oven. The more you beat, the better the "puffs" will be. And they really are very good even if they don't sound reasonable.
Total calories, 437. Protein, 167; fat, 101; carbohydrate, 169. Iron, .0088 gram.
The recipe will make 12 small puffs.

The peppers are stuffed with mushrooms, a little cooked macaroni and about 1 tablespoon canned tomato with a sprinkling of grated cheese over the top.

RAIN WEIGHT.
One large orange, 1 cup cooked wheat cereal, 3 ounces ham omelet, 1 cup clam broth, 1 large Swiss cheese and rye bread sandwich, 6 ripe olives, 7 ounces broiled weakfish with 2 tablespoons lemon butter, 4 tablespoons baked squash, 4 tablespoons mashed potato, 1 baked stuffed green pepper, 1 cup cabbage salad with cream dressing, 4 tablespoons pineapple water-ice with large piece sponge cake, 1-6 raisin pie, 2 cornmeal muffins, 3 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons maple syrup, 2 tablespoons croutons, two Parker house rolls, 1 pint whole milk, ½ cup cream.
Total calories, 4162. Protein, 453; fat, 1749; carbohydrate, 1930. Iron, .019 gram.
The raisin pie adds iron as well as sugar to the diet.
During the maple syrup season the person who would gain may enjoy the fresh sirup to the utmost.
The squash should be well seasoned with butter.
The foods for the gaining diet are planned to be simply cooked in order to preserve the mineral salts as much as possible and provide easily digested nourishment.
As squash is rich in carbohydrate, the reducing member should not indulge.

Knights Templar Ball Was Success

The annual ball given last evening in Rosbrook hall by Dixon Commandery No. 21, Knights Templar, was well attended and proved a most successful and enjoyable affair. There were about two hundred and fifty guests present.

This event is anticipated with much pleasure each year and last evening the guests all realized their anticipations, for everyone who attended the ball is today remarking on the pleasant evening. The hall, gaily decorated, was well filled with Sir Knights in their picturesque uniforms, carrying their white plumed hats, accompanied by their fair partners, in lovely evening gowns, making the scene one of color and life.

Guests were present from DeKalb, Chicago, Sterling, Ashton, Rochelle, etc.
The Grand March was led by Commander Bert Smies and his wife; the second couple in line being Generalissimo Charles B. Fowler and wife, and then followed the various officers and ladies and then the Past Commanders and partners. The first Past Commander in line was Amos Bosworth and his partner for the march was Mrs. John Haas, of Chicago, sister of Mrs. Carl Buchner.

The figures of the Grand March were graceful and some new ones were worked out.
Dancing was enjoyed until 1 o'clock, the guests loath to depart after the happy evening. Refreshments punch was served during the dance.

A FAIR SAMPLE OF TRUTH.

The Chicago Tribune attack on Dr. W. G. Murray, head of the Dixon State Hospital, serves a good purpose in this vicinity, whatever its sinister work may be in other quarters. It opened the eyes of many people to the kind of a campaign the Brundage-Tribune crowd are conducting.

Dixon people are saying, "If the Dixon State Hospital slander is a sample of the kind of truth the anti-Small faction is putting out, what about the rest of the anti-Small propaganda we have been reading?"

Dixon people know that any charge of brutal treatment of patients under Dr. Murray's care, or any mismanagement whatever, is utterly false. It is a cold-blooded falsehood launched with the hope of injuring the Len Small administration, with cruel disregard for the reputation of a splendid officer, Dr. W. G. Murray, a man whose ability as an executive and whose character are above reproach.

Such infamous political methods seem to have tainted the very roots of the Brundage organization for mud-slinging tactics are being used by certain elements in that faction locally. But the political strategist who is steering a course, while he no doubt enjoys a peculiar sort of satisfaction in the venting of his spleen, is losing votes for the ticket he pretends to aid. The average man on the streets of Dixon was filled with indignation after reading the Chicago Tribune attack on the management of the Dixon State Hospital and many announced that they were switching their allegiance to Governor Small because of such unwarranted accusations.

THIRD PARTY MYTHS.

Spring and the proximity of the primaries have reawakened the fancy of the disgruntled politicians, the economic hobby riders, the eternal reformers and the everlasting secessionists and again they clamor and cry out for a third party. Every presidential campaign witnesses the same fireworks.
There has been times when third party talk advanced to organization and even to the polls, but after the election the third party is always and forever third.

The Committee of Forty-eight and other organizations or groups throughout the country are now indulging in chatter as to third party movement. Apparently they have come up for air and talk. But it is to be noted that all of them are talking in fragments with side utterances as to possible combinations that are admitted to be necessary to the organization of such a move.

This year, with the approach of spring,
third party talk is waking from its four winters' sleep and is again registering in the news columns. But to those who have studied the trend of political events and have followed the current of political and economic thought, it is only talk, and talk of a cheap sort at that.

In certain years, now long gone, there has been real substance in such talk. Those who then nursed third party dreams were united to a degree that warranted the movement.
The issues that they urged were general and the backers of the move away from the major parties were somewhat united in interest and thought and aspirations. But this year no such warrant for the third party movement exists. Those who are working for it are variously assorted and hold to different interests and purposes, many of which not only are at variance, but are conflicting.

These groups are widely scattered and the interests they represent are more widely placed. Those in the east, with interests distinctive to the east, are now chorusing with groups in the west, representative of interests distinctly western, and groups in the north are chorusing with those in the south. Those organizations are trying to sing the same song, but they have no common chord. As among themselves they are notably off key and there is no rule of political harmony that will aid them. Even more widely divergent are the "third party" groups, when considered in their element make-ups. Those elements include farmers, workers and certain other classes of the population. Combination has in some instances already been attempted, but generally unification remains to be effected. There, for "third party" purposes, lies the trouble. The combination on which this year's movement must depend for success is moving along lines that must inevitably lead to conflict, for the elements sought to be combined are manifestly of opposing interests.

The farmer-labor combination may now be working in some sections, but it must necessarily be shortlived, for the farmer and city worker have conflicting interest. Such combinations may work through isolated political campaigns, but, in the nature of their elements, they do not hold. The interest of the farmer as producer and consumer urges high prices for the product he sells and low prices for the products of industries employing labor that he buys, and his interest as employer urges. On the other hand, labor, as a factor of production and as consumer, is urged by self-interest to press for high prices for the products of employing industry and for low prices for agricultural products consumed, and as employee self-interest urges pressure for high wages in agricultural work.
Here are the makings of conflict that can not long be ignored, for clashes between elements having such antagonistic interests must inevitably arise. For a time, opposition against major parties may form basis for a campaigning joinder, but when it comes to agreement on a continuing program of legislation, conflicting interests will necessarily assert themselves to the undoing of combination.

Nor are any outstanding leaders available to the third party movement. All those with a measure of political strength, who have been approached, have unhesitatingly
the honor of leadership in such movement.
Evidently they have no fancy for sacrifice
in a hopeless effort.

Neither the times nor conditions are ripe for a third party movement, and those who are misled in that direction are moving for a fall.

FARMERS MOVE.

Nearly a fifth of the nation's farmers moved in 1922, the government learns by checking up. Some were driven away by financial necessity. More were lured by the cities or by lands at a distance.

With a fifth of the farms changing occupants in one year, farming loses much of its old-time stability. The migratory spirit apparently is stronger in the country than in cities. The readjustment of owners and tenants continues. In the long run, farming probably will be better off for it.

Europe's war debt to the United States could be said to be keeping right on accumulating interest — if accumulating were the word.

NO. 10—JOHNNY CUT-OUT IN TROUBLE

His mother rubbed all the dirty marks off his face.

The Cut-Out family was peculiar. They never did anything like anybody else.

The Cut-Out gentleman was a dude, to begin with. Like all the rest of his family he had been cut out of a fashion magazine and his clothes were a marvel.

And his wife! She set the fashion for everything in Doofunny Land, and if she had chosen to wear her shoes on her head, I am perfectly sure that everybody else would have been doing the same thing inside of an hour and a half.

Here are some of the things they did. They slept in their clothes, and Mister Cut-Out didn't even take off his silk hat when he retired. Besides he insisted on taking his walking stick to bed with him.

Of course his clothes got wrinkled and he had to be ironed out—in fact they all did. A big book was the family clothes press and an hour or two in that freshened them up wonderfully.

The Cut-Outs never had washing day. Instead they had once a week, a rubbing out day, when Mrs. Cut-Out took a clean eraser and rubbed all the soiled spots off their paper clothes.

And the little Cut-Outs were the luckiest children ever, because they never had to have their faces washed in the morning for school. The whole family disliked water worse than cats.

Well, one morning Johnny Cut-Out got up and got ready to go to school. His mother rubbed all the dirty marks off his face and hands with her eraser and started him off.

"Do you know your lesson, Johnny?" she called after him.

"Yes, mother," replied Johnny.

A MERCENARY LAY

BY BERTON BRADLEY

Philosophers explain to us,
And moralists maintain to us,
That money is an evil and a curse;
Yet, when you come to think of it,
You like to hear the clink of it,
Or feel it bulging fatty in your purse.
For life is much more fair without,
Despite what preachers say,
If one just has the wherewithal
To pay.

True, poverty's no crime at all.
But I won't say that I'm at all
Persuaded it's a virtue to be poor;
Pounds, dollars or napoleons—
The fairly-earned simoleons
Are not exactly wicked, I am sure.
To have some cash to spare with all
Makes things a lot more gay;
It's good to have the wherewithal
To pay.

truth, sympathy and perfect trust find judgment there.

"Beside being the woman I have just described, Leslie, I have found in you something more. Dearest, your great loving heart is so tender that at my slightest touch you seem to drop all other attributes; all other thoughts save those of love.

"Leslie, you have made this world more beautiful for me than I have ever thought it could be. I cannot lose you now—I cannot. Do not punish me for something I did before I knew you; before you had come into my life to show me that God made a man in his own likeness and that only when he allows himself to sink to his baser level he becomes the lesser thing than God intended him to be."

Jack's voice trailed off into silence. I could not speak; in fact I could not bring my brain to realize it all. Even all the beautiful things he had just said to me about myself did not affect my consciousness until afterward. Then I knew that no man could have said them unless he meant them all.

Little Marquise, did ever your kingly lover say anything sweeter to you?

At the time, however my tongue just refused to form any words, and the silence began to hurt us both with a torture unspeakable.

Leslie, Leslie, speak to me! Tell me that you will forgive me."

"When did you know that little Jack belonged to you, John?" I found myself asking. My tongue seemed saying things of which I had no thought, no intuition.

It seemed hours before Jack answered my question.

"It was a few weeks afterward, Paula wrote to Sid, and he wrote me, telling me that she had confessed what she had done in disposing of her baby. It was too late to say anything then; besides, I was afraid."

"Poor girl, how she must have suffered!" I stirred in surprise and wondered if it were I who had spoken those words. I had no intention of saying them before they came out.

But honestly, little Marquise, the only thing I could think about was the look of agony upon that poor girl's face when she sat in my beautiful nursery with her own baby clasped in her arms, and couldn't own it. It was then that she paid."

"Shall we give him back?" asked John. "I will do so if you wish it."

"Not for all the world," I answered. "I would give you up more easily, than him."

LEGION LEADER IS STRONG FOR FRED STERLING

"Daddy" Schick Favors Renomination of Lt.-Gov. By G.O.P.

Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling is receiving hearty support from American Legion friends in all parts of the state in his candidacy for renomination.

Mr. Sterling kept in close touch with and was helpful to many soldiers at Camp Grant during the World War, also serving as member of the committee which went to New York to see the Illinois soldiers off when they left for overseas and later to greet them there when they returned home. He was one of those instrumental in raising a fund which made very Winnebago county service man the recipient of $5.00 for spending money when they returned to New York.

Since the close of the war he has been active in behalf of ex-service men, helping to secure the passage of the Illinois bonus bill in the legislature and later giving it earnest support, both personally and through the newspaper of which he is editor, at the polls at the referendum election. Bonus claims for several thousand applicants were made out at the Rockford Register-Gazette office, all clerical and notarial service being rendered free of cost. Since the payment of bonus claims was started Mr. Sterling has assisted many ex-service men before the Service Recognition Board in having adjusted their claims, which had either been disallowed or were faulty, because of technicalities.

"Daddy" Schick's Letter.
Charles W. ("Daddy") Schick, past Department of Commander of the American Legion of Illinois, is one of Lieut. Gov. Sterling's strongest supporters in the present campaign.

Writing to Mr. Sterling "Daddy" Schick said:

"It will be a pleasure for me to do anything within my power that will aid in your re-election as Lieutenant Governor of Illinois. I hope you will receive an overwhelming majority in the primary which will establish thoroughly in the minds of all throughout Illinois the high standing in which the people hold you individually. I suppose you have seen in the papers at different times my name as being suggested for some office. I have absolutely withdrawn my name for any position whatsoever. I am interested in your candidacy and will use every possible means to promote your just cause. Wishing a great success for you in this campaign and that you may be elected by an overwhelming majority, believe me, Most truly yours,
Charles W. Schick.

Sec. Mellon's Tax Rates Back in Bill

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 25.—The income tax rates proposed by Secretary Mellon are again in the revenue bill.

Proceedings with unexpected speed in its consideration of the bill last night, the senate finance committee launched into the income section and, by a vote of 8 to 7 substituted the Mellon rate for the Longworth compromise adopted by the house.

Democrats of the committee were not ready to offer a counter proposal and voted solidly against the Mellon rates. Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, announced later they would put forward their proposed substitute either in committee or on the floor.

Chairman Smoot said a motion to reopen the income schedule for committee action would be decided by the committee.

Fifty years ago Sir Norman Lockyer announced correspondence between sun spots cycles and rainfall in India.

Cromwell Moves Into His New Quarters

Walter Cromwell has moved his stock and fixtures into his new building at 116 East First street, which now houses the Cromwell Electric shop. The building, a two-story fire proof structure, was erected by Mr. Cromwell during the winter, and now houses one of the most complete stocks of electric and radio fixtures and appliances in this part of the state.

The basement will be utilized in the storage of electrical equipment with the repair department and garage on the first floor to the rear. The store room will provide a fixture display department, a complete stock of electrical appliances and featuring a radio department. The owner will occupy the second floor, which has been finished up into a modern flat. The building is one of a very few in Dixon, which is heated with an electrically operated crude oil burner.

Washington, March 25.—Further inquiry into the financial affairs of Albert B. Fall, and the stock speculation by high officials was made today by the oil committee at a brief and colorless session. It then adjourned until Thursday.

Chicago Lady Tells of Remarkable Results Gotten from the Tanlac Treatment, and Urges Others to Try It.

In the springtime, all mankind is in need of an upbuilding tonic. According to the testimony of multitudes of people, there is nothing so invigorating to a run-down system as Tanlac. In this connection Mrs. F. Bristow, 1132 Troost Ave., Forest Park, Chicago, says:

"Before I took Tanlac, I never wanted to eat, my stomach was dis-ordered and my nerves so shattered that I could get no peace or rest. I was as weak and miserable as if I had been through a long illness and I could not have held up under the strain much longer.

"It was certainly surprising the appetite Tanlac gave me and just as surprising how it helped me in every way. It ended my stomach trouble, steadied my nerves so they ceased to bother me and built up my strength and health so wonderfully that I want to urge all who are not feeling right to try it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

POINCARÉ RESIGNS LEADERSHIP FRENCH GOVT AFTER DEFEAT

Ministry Quits Following Defeat of Its Pension Bill.

Paris, March 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—Premier Poincaré tendered his resignation today following defeat in the Chamber of Deputies on the government's pension bill.

The measure, acceptance of which was made a question of confidence in Finance Minister De Lasteyrie, was rejected 271 to 264. Premier Poincaré was absent, being before the foreign affairs committee asking for a favorable recommendation of the treaty of Lausanne, when word of the defeat came.

He immediately called cabinet members together and after hasty consultation decided to resign. The cabinet members at once waited upon President Millerand and M. Poincaré presented their collective resignation. Indications are that the president will ask M. Poincaré to form another ministry but the premier's attitude is regarded as doubtful.

M. Poincaré said his decision to resign was irrevocable.

Faced Stiff Opposition.
The Poincaré government formed in January, 1922, to succeed that of Aristide Briand, has encountered stiff opposition during the last few weeks on its measures designed to restore economic equilibrium. These measures, including bills to increase taxation 20 per cent, effect economies totalling one billion francs and institute fiscal reforms passed both the senate and the chamber of deputies Saturday.

Prior to the beginning of its financial reform campaign which it undertook because of the sensational decline of the franc, the government commanded overwhelming support in both houses.

RAMBUNCTIOUS BILLY.
Wichita, Kan.—A Wichita man who owns a billy goat bought a new auto the other day. While the wife and children were admiring it, along came Mr. Billy, who, thinking he saw another goat in the glossy side of the new car, lunged at its reflection. The car went down for the count.

SOLON W. CROWELL FOR CONGRESS.

As the race for the congressional nomination is nearing the end it is conceded that Solon W. Crowell, the versatile candidate of Oregon, Illinois, is far in the lead. These reports come from all parts of the district, and it is the pass-word among the leading Republicans that Crowell will be the man who will take the congressional chair for the thirteenth district.

Solon W. Crowell is as well qualified as any man that the thirteenth district could choose to represent them.

The farmers want him because of his close relation with the agricultural interests. Mr. Crowell owns and conducts two large farms, one of which he was born upon.

The Ex-Servicemen want him because of his active interests during the World War, as head of the Red Cross, war chest and later going overseas to help out the boys.

The laboring man wants him because his record in behalf of the laboring class has proven beyond a doubt his attitude on labor problems.

The manufacturer and the good business men want him because of his business capacity and success in any endeavor he has undertaken.

The district can be complimented in being able to send Solon W. Crowell to Washington for with his broad experience he can well represent our district in its many phases.—Adv.

Radio Entertainment for Patients in U. S. Hospitals is Planned

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 26.—World War patients in government hospitals soon will have radio entertainment.

Director Hines of the Veterans Bureau today instructed construction agencies to equip all government hospitals for radio reception with connections direct to the beds of patients.

Civic groups and friends of the sufferers however, apparently will have to render aid in completing the plan since no funds are available for purchase of head phones. Money is being raised to buy the powerful receiving apparatus.

LEE CO. FARM BUREAU NOTES

MUST PRESENT SOMETHING BETTER

Opponents of the McNary-Haugen bill who are broadcasting propaganda against its passage by Congress must not only prove their statements but must present something constructive to help put the farmer upon a fair trading basis with other industries, according to President S. H. Thompson of the Illinois Agricultural Association in a communication received by the Lee County Farm Bureau. Mr. Thompson has been spending considerable time in Washington representing Illinois farmers' interests in behalf of the bill.

"It is very noticeable that the strongest opponents of the measure are the grain and livestock exchanges who are at the same time the fiercest enemies of cooperative marketing," declares Mr. Thompson. "I have never heard that these bodies have offered anything constructive to help the farmer out."

"It is generally agreed that there is a real emergency in agriculture. There is a growing sentiment not only among farmers but among business men that the McNary-Haugen bill offers the best solution yet presented for overcoming present difficulties. As the purpose of the measure is studied its fairness appeals to all who are fair minded."

Mr. Thompson feels that prospects for the passage of the measure are bright. The Teapot Dome scandal and other findings at Washington are making our senators and representatives feel that they must do something really worth while for the folks back home, he says, and they see their opportunity in the McNary-Haugen bill.

Daily Lenten Bible reading and meditation prepared for Commission on Evangelism of Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

WEDNESDAY
Winning Forgiveness

Read Matt. 6:1-15. Text 6:14. For if ye forgive men their trespasses your Heavenly Father will also forgive you.

"God's forgiveness involves three things: (1) a wrong done to God by a man; (2) the man's repentance, that is, the wrong regretted, stopped, and, if possible, made right; (3) a change on the part of God from disapproving to approving love."

MEDITATION: Jesus was continually emphasizing the truth that we limit our own lives by the attitude we take towards others. That the quality which we possess, both of forgiveness and love for others, determines in what measure we shall have the forgiveness and affection of the Father. In many ways we control our own destiny.

PERSONAL QUESTION: Is there

anyone who has wronged me and repented whom I do not forgive?

PRAYER: Help us to remember, O God, that we are members of a great family. Let us so live in love with all men that thy grave may enrich the lives of all. Let no life be hindered by anything we may say or do. Show us thy will and let us do it with joy, through Christ. Amen.

Coolidge is Called "Sleepy Judge" Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 25.—While the senate's investigation of Attorney General Daugherty stood in recess today a debate growing out of the disclosures broke out in the house.

President Coolidge was assailed by Representative Oliver, democrat, New York, for not forcing an investigation of his own into the estate of Jess Smith, friend of the attorney general to determine where Smith's money came from.

Mr. Oliver said the president has refused to help the senate committee, and "is acting like a sleepy judge."

SERVICES AT ST. PAUL'S

This evening attend Lenten services at St. Paul's Lutheran church. These services should rest and refresh you. You ought to be cheered by the truth in song and gospel message as presented. We make no apology for appealing in this manner to thoughtful men and women of our city and community. We live so much in a world of material things that we should be willing to be led into the other world once in a while.

Members of the church council are asked to meet in special session following the services tonight.

PUMP BALL FROM LUNG

Prague—A 16-year-old youth, blowing steel balls through a blow pipe, inhaled too strongly and drew one into his lungs. Efforts to extract it with forceps and a magnet were unsuccessful. Then a rubber hose was introduced until its end touched the obstruction, and an air pump was used. It succeeded almost immediately.

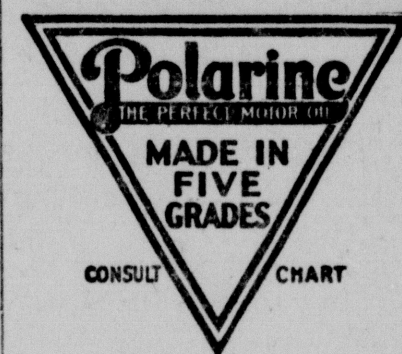

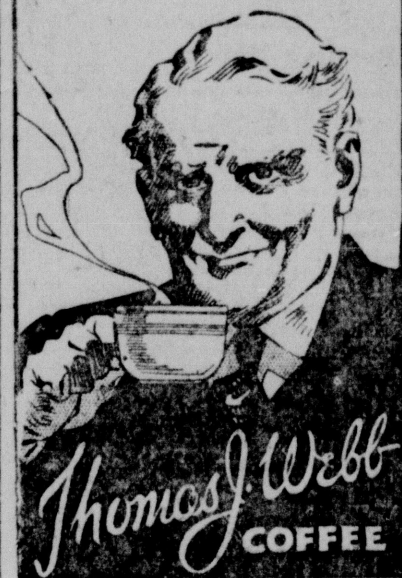

Before lead can be manufactured, the silver and gold must be extracted from the ore and the other impurities removed.

THE NUT CRACKER

Sarasota, Fla.—Big league rookies are getting their necks measured for stylish two-edge axes and will soon be back in Wallow Hollow, Me., telling the home town boys what an awful egg plant Manager McGraw turned out to be. 7113

No rookie in spring yawning camp ever got a fair shake. Either the stewed cucumber who managed the team played favorites or else he wouldn't recognize a coming ball player if he wore a trade mark and was sewed up at the seams. 70110

Cobb came up from nowhere. Speaker was four lengths back of that. A southern professor went butterfly sniping and bagged Jackson by mistake. Even Charley Ebbets would give a couple of smackers for these lads as an outfield, if delivered freight prepaid. 7113

MISS ALIAS

BY DOUGLAS GRANT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Sallie Peck, employee of the Fair Deal Five & Ten, quarrels with her policeman sweetheart, Michael Curtila. That night a storm comes up and Sallie volunteers to take down a washing left hanging in the yard by Ma Brennan, with whom the girl lives. A crash shakes the earth and something strikes Sallie a blow on the head.

When she regains consciousness, Sallie finds herself in strange surroundings, handsomely furnished. She is waited upon by a maid named Therese and a nurse, Miss Tidmarsh. They call Sallie by the name of Alva Copeland.

Madame Copeland, a tall, richly gowned woman, comes in and calls Sallie her step-daughter. She tells the girl that she was injured in a train wreck. Sallie is taken downstairs to see Cousin Wheeler and, when a Mrs. Delapierre is announced, Madame Copeland goes into another room to receive her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 "Has Aunt Flo told you about Mrs. Delapierre?" Sloat had moved a low chair close to hers and his peculiar eyes were regarding her with a penetrating stare. "You seemed surprised when she was announced."

"Did I?" Sallie shrugged. "I don't feel as though much would surprise me, lately! But tell me about the wreck."

"Don't you recall any of it—Alva?" He hitched his chair a trifle nearer.

"Nothing of what's been told me yet." She eyed him steadily. "I'd like to know how you happened to find me."

"Naturally my first thought was of you!" Sloat responded quickly. "Your mother and Therese were safe but you were buried under a heap of wreckage that had caught fire from the engine of the train which ran into ours and it was a miracle that I could manage to reach you in time, for people were being burned to death all around you! It was horrible!"

Sallie glanced at him in amazement for the note of bravado had left his tone and it shook slightly as though with some genuine feeling, but his face expressed only a sickened revulsion.

"It must have been fierce!" she echoed with a little shiver. "I guess people could stay get mixed up, dying like that, and maybe buried for somebody else?"

"What made you think of that?" he demanded.

"Oh, I don't know," Sallie was looking into his face and she spoke as though to herself. "It might be kinder hard to tell 'em apart—afterwards. Why, suppose somebody else had found me and I'd waked up as the doctors were afraid I was going to, without even being wise to who I was myself? I mightn't even be who people doped it out I was?"

"What do you mean?" He turned again and fixed his oblique gaze on her, then forced a laugh. "That would be absurd! Mistakes like that don't happen, Alva."

"Did you ring, miss?" The voice of the footman Fitch sounded from the doorway. "Shall I take away the tea?"

Sloat turned, his small mustache bristling, but before he could speak Sallie replied:

"Yes, please."

There was something more than mere curiosity in the covert glance the man cast at her as he obeyed and Sallie wondered anew, but nothing more was said until he had gone. Then Sloat exclaimed:

"That fellow's too confoundedly officious! I'm going to tell Aunt Flo to get rid of him!"

"I don't remember that you were in as strong as that with her!" Sallie laughed. "She did tell me how sick you fixed it out there where the accident happened to get us all away so quick!"

"Good heavens!" Sloat's tone bordered on exasperation. "Don't let us go back to that awful affair!"

"All right," Sallie replied obligingly. "I don't believe in crane hanging."

Dr. Chester Stock, head of the department of paleontology of the University of California, declined to pass snap judgment on the finds, but pointed out that the strata under which they were found indicated they belonged to the latter part of the glacial period.

myself, but what else have we got to talk about?"

"You!" He rested his arm along the small table behind his chair and hers. "Do you know, Alva, I like you better—in this mood—than I ever did before? I think we are going to understand each other."

"Haven't we always?" she asked. "Not as thoroughly as we shall."

He looked down the length of his long nose at her. "You've got common sense and nerve, and you're ever so much prettier in spite of your illness."

"Am I?" His arm was moving slowly toward her along the table top but Sallie scorned to budge an inch. She wondered which of his eyes was looking straight at her and choosing one gazed steadily back into it. "I do hope you ain't going to do what you were told not to?"

"What?" He drew back slightly in surprise. "What was I told not to do?"

"Make me tired."

He removed his arm and an ugly expression crossed his face, but he checked himself in time and observed mockingly:

"I should be sorry to do that—little

CHAPTER IV
 Players of the Game

HOW had that particular scrap of paper come to be under her door? The Delapierre robbery seemed to be of interest to Mrs. Copeland and her nephew because of their friendship with the family.

She remembered Mrs. Copeland's answer to Sloat's query for news. "A vague clue but a most amazing coincidence." She had meant the possibility that the woman crook was on the Gotham Arrow, too. It certainly was queer. . . .

Sallie tore the paper into tiny pieces and opening her bathroom window scattered them wide and when Mrs. Tidmarsh appeared she found her patient curled up half-dressed upon the chaise longue. A light dinner was brought to her and a little later the nurse approached her with a glass of water and two more tablets identical in appearance with those which the doctor had administered that morning.

There was going to be no more doped sleep for Sallie if she knew it. Extending her hand in seeming willingness for the medicine she raised it to her lips and then drank some water but the tablets were in the closed fingers which rested so innocently across her breast. Miss Tidmarsh settled herself by the low night-light with a book for an hour and then satisfied that her patient slept she left the room.

She had scarcely gone, however, when Sallie was in the bathroom, washing the moist, sticky white paste of the melted tablets from her fingers.

The little French clock whose silvery chimed had first caused her to open her eyes that morning was ticking softly on the mantel, the hands pointing to five minutes before ten, and Sallie stoiled to the window, pulling aside the heavy draperies which the nurse had sewered.

Mr. Bellows was apparently in on this scheme, too, and Sallie meant to know when he arrived.

Eleven o'clock came and half after the hour and at last a car pulled up before the door. In the rays from the street lamp it appeared a large and magnificent machine and yet there was something about its outlines which reminded Sallie vaguely of the cars in which the more prosperous doctors of Shastatown had made their rounds.

In swift premonition she crept back into bed, forcing herself to breathe lightly and regularly and in a few moments the door opened and Dr. Quarters entered accompanied by Miss Tidmarsh. His examination was brief but more than ordinary that Sallie had anticipated and it required all her self-control to keep her eyelids from fluttering when he passed a small flashlight before them.

Advanced Humans in S California 20,000 Years Ago, Belief

Los Angeles, March 25.—Human beings of advanced type inhabited Southern California 15,000 to 20,000 years ago, in the opinion of scientists who are studying these fossil skulls and portions of four human skeletons, unearthed in Glacial sands near here yesterday.

Today excavators sought still further confirmation of their belief that the skeletons unearthed, while showing development far beyond the Neanderthal Man of Europe's glacial period, nevertheless belonged to beings who roamed these shores in glacial times.

Dr. Chester Stock, head of the department of paleontology of the University of California, declined to pass snap judgment on the finds, but pointed out that the strata under which they were found indicated they belonged to the latter part of the glacial period.

OIL COMMITTEE UNCERTAIN HOW TO CARRY CASE

Don't Knok Scheme to Make Sinclair Answer to Contempt.

Washington, March 25.—Governmental authorities were uncertain today whether the case of Harry E. Sinclair, cited by the senate oil investigating committee for contempt, can be presented to the grand jury in the immediate future.

Once contempt process is reached, it appears that Sinclair's counsel will contest the case at every point and that legal questions would be carried to the supreme court.

The highest source has been appealed to in at least two previous congressional contempt cases. E. R. Chapman, a New York broker, was cited by the senate in 1934 for refusing to testify. He served a 30-day sentence after the supreme court had refused a review.

Chapman attacked the validity of section 102 of the revised statutes under which the Sinclair action will be taken.

The supreme court held it had no right to review the court of appeals in criminal cases.

In two previous cases the house had meted punishment to recalcitrant witnesses. In one of these a man named Irwin refused to answer questions and in the other Hallett Kilbourne, who in 1887 was committed to prison for refusing to obey a subpoena and declining to answer a question, later brought suit against the sergeant-at-arms for false imprisonment and recovered a verdict for $10,000.

TEN CENTS PER LINE FOR CARD OF THANKS.

Evidently there are some who do not understand that Card of Thanks run in a newspaper is purely a personal matter and not news, and consequently something for which a charge is made in all papers. Several cents is the minimum price in the Telegraph, so if those wishing a card run would send the money with copy it would save all further annoyance.

ATTACKS UPON GOV. SMALL ARE DISCREDITED BY OFFICIAL RECORDS

LESS THAN 12 PARDONS GIVEN IN LAST YEAR

Social Workers Resent Attacks On State Parole Law.

Clemency Recommended By Trial Judge and the Prosecuting Attorney in Cases Cited.

Springfield—Attacks of the Chicago Tribune upon Governor Small, charging he has been opening prison doors and turning loose hundreds of criminals are discredited by official records.

Executive clemency has been given by Gov. Small in less than a dozen cases a year. Publication by the Chicago newspaper is shown by the records to be solely part of its campaign of misrepresentation and abuse to deceive the people of the state in an effort to defeat Gov. Small for re-election. With the facts known, such attacks will, it is believed, be resented by the people who ask fair play and decency, and who already are suspicious of the motives and interests back of these attacks.

Practically every case referred to by The Tribune in the attacks upon Gov. Small is found to be one where the parole board has acted. Will Colvin, parole agent under the Small administration was parole agent under Gov. Lowden. He was first put in the service by Gov. Dunne on the recommendation of United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman and Walter Rosenfield, present anti-Small chairman of the state central committee, was continued under the Lowden administration, and retained by Gov. Small upon the endorsement of the same gentlemen and others who now join in attacks upon him.

Governor Not Consulted
Mr. Colvin declares that Gov. Small has not been consulted, nor has he acted in the cases referred to in the attacks upon him, nor has there been any material difference in the number of prisoners paroled or the crimes committed by them compared with what was done under the administrations of both Gov. Lowden and Gov. Dunne.

"The parole law of the state is being attacked in these attacks upon Gov. Small," declares Mr. Colvin. "The newspaper engaging in it is seeking to make political pawns of human life, and liberty and belittling the thousands of men and women who have devoted a lifetime to obtaining a law that would serve to restore to useful lives the thousands of unfortunates yearly committed to prisons and reformatories. The law of Illinois is the best in the country, and has been adopted by other states. Under it 87 men and women out of every hundred released become useful citizens and do not return to crime. Less than one per cent of those paroled are returned to prison under new sentences in Illinois. The Tribune could have had all the facts in every case. They are of record. It did not want them. It

ATTACKS UPON GOVERNOR SMALL

Official records show "pardon" cases given publicly by The Chicago Tribune in its attack upon Gov. Small are cases where prisoners have been paroled without action by executive, and upon recommendation of the trial judge and state's attorney prosecuting the cases.

Facts in each case have been misrepresented in the effort to discredit and destroy Governor Small.

Will Colvin, present parole officer, has been parole officer since the administration of Gov. Dunne. He continued under Gov. Lowden. He was endorsed by men closely identified with Attorney General Brundage who are prominent today in that faction of the party. There was no complaint by The Tribune or those now trying to besmirch Gov. Small when Mr. Colvin released on parole the same number of the same character of cases under Gov. Lowden. He has continued under Gov. Small as parole officer. When these facts are known people can better realize how unjustified the attacks are upon Gov. Small now in this connection.

wanted to besmirch Gov. Small. The facts do not."

Few people in the state realize that from 1880 to 2500 prisoners are paroled each year. Most of them reform and the punishment suffered is a haunting memory of misery the rest of a lifetime. Were these prisoners not paroled, there would be no place to receive those sentenced for various crimes from day to day. Chicago alone sends to the prisons and reformatories of the state more than a thousand a year.

The parole law permits all prisoners to apply for a hearing for parole after serving eleven months time. In most cases of first offense the parole and pardon board officers grant release. In cases where the crime is more serious prisoners are compelled to remain five, ten or more years before serious consideration of release on parole is given.

If prisoners were not released the people of the state would be called upon to pay millions of dollars a year to provide new buildings to take care of the inmates. Under the parole system, says Mr. Colvin, "6300 men given their freedom under parole in three years are now supporting 19,000 souls, including mothers, sisters, wives and children. The Tribune would like to beggar them to defeat Gov. Small."

Facts Made Public
Parole officers have issued a booklet which gives the facts in every case repeating what was published and appealing to women voters to take action.

In most cases referred to, the trial judge and state's attorney urged the prisoners be released on parole. This is the fact in the Lodin case, convicted for perjury, and the jury also recommended leniency.

Blumson case: confidence game. He was sentenced one to ten years. On the maximum he would be entitled to release in 4 years 3 months and 15 days, for good behavior. He was released on parole with one year to serve upon recommendation of Judge Kersten who tried the case, and the prosecuting attorney, and in this recommendation State's Attorney Crowe concurred. The latter opposes Gov. Small, hence The Tribune omits reference to these details.

Raymond case: president of Barber's union, had trouble with another organization; sentence was commuted. Assistant State's Attorney prosecuting the case urged clemency saying jury did not distinguish between Raymond and another defendant C. V. Barrett, attorney, appeared for Raymond and asked parole be granted. Barrett is one of the big men in the organization of the Brundage faction in Chicago, serves The Tribune politically and this information was therefore omitted.

Gringus case: mistreating child. Record shows State's Attorney Macley Hoynes and trial judge both recommended minimum term provided by law for this offense. This was one of the cases published to show Gov. Small granted pardons to men attacking children and has been used to incite the women of the state against him. Gov. Small took no action, gave no pardon, but the parole officer followed the recommendation of the trial judge and prosecuting attorney who are presumed to best know the facts and degree of guilt of the offender.

The Gusik or Gusick case is another which has been referred to as "the panderers" and much publicity given it as an outrage against a young girl. The official record shows the girl involved had previously engaged in "street walking."

The official records show a different state of facts in each case than has been published by The Tribune. The parole officers have printed a full explanation in pamphlet form that is going out to the people of the state.

Gov. Small says: "Lives and liberties of human beings are too sacred to be made political pawns, I would not, upon my own motion, put the work of the Division of Pardons and Paroles into a political campaign."

"The exceptional work performed by that Division however, has been attacked for political reasons. In consequence it becomes necessary to give to the people of Illinois the true facts as they are contained in the official records."—Morris Daily Herald, March 12th.
